Catalog of new products 2009

Dear Roco model railway fans,

Let's start the Model Railway Year 2009 together now ! We would like to present our latest innovative product range to you which once again shows that offering a wide range of International Railway Models to our customers is our big high-tech challenge.

Our new catalogs come in a handy size and show a wide variety of our new products from various epochs and International Railroad Companies. Would you like to have more information about our new products coming out every month or subscribe to our Email and SMS Newsletter (only available to Roco report subscribers) ? Then why not visit regularly our homepage at (www.roco.cc) . It will be a pleasure to us to have you online.

For the time being we wish you a lot of fun with your favourite Model Railway !

Urban

For friends of the third epoch (Epoche III) of the Deutsche Bundesbahn, this starter set offers a model E10.3 locomotive with digital controls and additional digital functions. In addition to a wide range of sound functions, the digital controls can also be used to raise and lower the pantograph. The three express train cars, all in 1:87 scale, have doors which can be opened and closed using digital controls. This is accompanied by characteristic door noises. The set has an oval Roco geoLINE R3 track with track bed: 14 G200 straight track sections, 1 pre-installed feed element and 12 R3 curved tracks ($r = 434.5$ mm). One powerful type 10725 universal transformer with 50 VA and a type 10764 digital amplifier. One 10810 multiMAUS with 9999 locomotive addresses, whereby the starting voltage, acceleration and deceleration settings as well as the additional digital functions can be programmed and switched separately (operation in either 14 or 28 speed steps is possible). The lighting output can be switched independently.

Urban

Just like the DC starter set 41275, this set contains a BR 110 locomotive and three express train cars. All models are equipped to operate with the 3-wire AC system and have the same digital functions as the corresponding DC models. The digital controls can raise and lower the pantographs of the electric locomotive and open and shut the doors of the cars. All actions are accompanied by characteristic sounds. This set does not contain any tracks or digital components.
